JUSTICE'S COURT FOR THE PRECINCT OF CENtral Portland.—State of Oregon, Multnomah county—SS.—J. W. Stearns & Co., Plaintiffs, vs. Alexander and Cyrus Clark, defendants.—Civil action to recover money.—[U. S. revenue stamp 50 cents cancelled.]

To Alexander and Cyrus Clark, the above named defendants:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear before the undersigned, a Justice of the Peace for the precinct of Central, on the eleventh day of March, 1867, at 1 o'clock, afternoon of said day, at the office of said Justice in said precinct, to answer the above named plaintiffs in a civil action.

The defendants will take notice that if they fail to answer the complaint herein the plaintiffs will take judgment against them for $10... with interest on the same from the 25th day of May 1866, together with the costs and disbursements in this action.

Given under my hand this 21st day of January, 1867.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.—TO ALL WHOM it may concern. The undersigned was, on the 24th day of January, A. D. 1867, by the County Court of Multnomah county, Oregon, duly appointed and qualified administratrix of the estate of Sherry Ross, deceased, late of said county, and letters issued accordingly.

All persons having claims against said estate are requested to present the same to the undersigned at the office of W. W. Chapman, Esq., in Portland, within six months with the proper vouchers, and those indebted to the said estate will make immediate payment.

REBECCA F. ROSS,
January 26, 1867. jan28d4w Administratrix.

The Refractory Southern States, Congress, and the Administration.

President Johnson's Southern policy has turned out a failure, profitless to the South and disastrous to his administration. He began well enough in taking the ground that his measures of reconstruction in the absence of Congress were merely provisional and subject to the approval or rejection by Congress. But directly after his annual message of December 1865 he boldly diverged to the other road, which has resulted in the ruin of his fortunes. He was perhaps dazzled and deluded by the idea of becoming the founder of a new party, and, like Jackson, the head of a new dynasty, in re-establishing the old political balance of power held by the South on the nucleus of the floating elements of the North opposed to the dominant party in Congress. In this conception, however, he estimated too lightly the prospects of the war and the public sentiment of the North developed by a great revolution, and he counted too much on the force of those old political associations and dogmas, North or South, which the war had destroyed. His fatal mistake was the fallacy that, excepting slavery and the rights of their rebellion, the rebel States, in laying down their arms, were reinstated in their constitutional rights in the "Union as it was" before the war.

It was generally expected that the astounding popular majorities in favor of Congress cast by the loyal States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, in the elections of last fall, on the issue joined between Congress and the President, would bring Mr Johnson to a graceful submission to the will of the people. A satisfactory approach in this direction was anticipated in his last annual message, but his message, as if inspired by unexpected reinforcements, only expressed his increased faith in his rejected policy. This placed him in the position of the champion of the refractory ruling politicians of the rebel States, their representatives in Congress and their policy as embodied in the pending constitutional amendment, and as endorsed in all the late Southern elections. Next, in the emphatic and defiant tone in which this amendment is rejected by the outside States, from Texas all the way up to Virginia, it is manifest not only that they have great confidence in the final success of President Johnson, but that there is a sort of league or understanding among them engaged with the administration.

What can this understanding, or this general expectation be? We infer from the late decisions of the Supreme Court, and from the hints thrown out by some of the Southern exchanges, that the ruling Southern politicians rely upon some further decisions from the court which will amount to the complete upsetting of the pending amendment, and the theory that the excluded States are not, as they stand, restored to all their rights as members of the Union. Under such encouragements to adhere to the Executive, it is not surprising that the rebel States should stand upon their dignity and their reserved rights under the constitution as expounded by Calhoun and put into practice at Fort Sumter. If the Supreme Court then shall next decide, in deciding the Alabama appeal case now before it, touching the status of Alabama, that she is a State of the Union, entitled to all the rights of a member in full communion, and if President Johnson shall accordingly proclaim this decision a law of the land, overriding the laws of Congress, and shall proceed to execute it in fulfillment of his oath of office, what can Congress do? We cannot answer, but as to what President Johnson is expected to do by over confident and unreconstructed Southern rebels we have, perhaps, an answer from Kentucky.

We refer to the suggestive telegram published the other day from Frankfort stating that in the Kentucky State Senate, on the 11th instant, Mr Helm "made a long speech in favor of a proposition to raise ten regiments of Kentucky infantry for the purpose of resisting all aggressions and to maintain the principles of State rights." State rights! The old story of South Carolina. And this Kentucky Senator "desired that these troops should at any time be subject to the call of the President of the United States." Now, when it is remembered that the Governor of Kentucky threw back into his face the first call of President Lincoln for a few regiments of troops to assist in putting down a rebellion striking for a Southern confederacy, and looking at Kentucky neutrality during the war and at the Kentucky Legislature since the return of peace, we can understand this State rights proposition. It is a movement to put Kentucky in the vanguard of another fight for a Southern confederacy or for "the Union as it was," State rights, slavery, Dred Scott decision and all.

This skeleton outline of the Southern situation and its Northern affiliations we believe is not overdrawn. It is apparent, then, that Congress, charged by the loyal States with the enforcement of their ultimatum to the South, must proceed to decisive measures, or that the fruits of the war, like the beautiful apples of the Dead Sea, may turn to ashes upon our lips. Can any one suppose, then, that the movement for President Johnson's impeachment will not be carried through? No. The Republican party, all-powerful in Congress and in the loyal States, and with no reliable footing in the rebel States, will remove President Johnson in order to reach those States. His scheme of re-establishing the Northern Democracy on their old Southern balance of power was started too soon. With the restoration of the South on the ultimatum of the North the mission of the Republican party will be fulfilled. This party will then be broken up, and a scrub race in 1872, like that of 1824, will probably mark the first step to a re-organization of parties. Meantime the party in power will tolerate no stumbling blocks which it has constitutional authority to remove.—N. Y. Herald.

MAXIMILIAN.—The following from a French paper is given as a report of Maximilian's position as stated by himself:

As soon as the health of the Emperor Maximilian permitted he called together at Orizaba a Council of State and Ministers. They assembled at one in the afternoon of the 24th November. The Emperor, although still suffering, expounded, with remarkable clearness and energy, his ideas respecting the new duties which recent events appeared to prescribe. After describing the situation of the country from a military point of view, the new attitude taken up by France, and that of the United States, his Majesty drew attention to the sacrifices which Mexico might have to make in order to maintain her existing situations. He also spoke of his health, but added that this must be looked upon as a secondary consideration, because if it were made plain that the welfare of the nation demanded his presence in Mexico, he would willingly sacrifice his life for his adopted country. In order to ascertain the opinion of the people of whose destinies he is the final judge, the Emperor said that he considered it to be his duty not to be satisfied with the assurances given by his Ministers and high functionaries of State, whose devotedness and patriotism he, however, greatly appreciated. He added, moreover, that, desiring above all that his authority should be freely accepted by every party, his irrevocable intention was to appeal to the nation. Our correspondent informs us that this address produced an immense effect, and that the members of the Council could not, after so clear and frank a statement, do otherwise than recognize the necessity of the measure proposed by his Majesty. They, therefore, undertook to make arrangements to give effect to the views of the Sovereign, begging him, in the mean time, to be good enough to remain at the head of affairs until the nation had an opportunity of expressing its wishes.

A SIAMESE COLOSSUS.—The Bangkok Recorder describes a visit to one of the wats, or Buddhist cloisters, of the city, the Wat P O, which is the largest. It covers ten acres of land, paved with gray granite, and presents the difficulties of a labyrinth. It contains two temples of imposing architecture. In one is an image twice the size of life, and covered with gold; in the other teak doors, beautifully inlaid with mother of pearl. The latter contains an image which far exceeds the Colossus of Rhodes in size. He is reclining on the right side, with his head resting on the right hand. He is 135 feet long, about 28 feet round the belt, and the length of the little toe on the right foot is 3 feet 4 inches. The natives say his bowels are full of large water jars. The labor of constructing and gilding this image must have been immense, and have taken years to accomplish.

John Cheney, a hunter of the Adirondacks, possesses a pistol with which he claims he has killed 1,500 deer, 12 otter, 1 panther, 26 bear, 19 wolves, 24 moose, and other game without number. He has carried the pistol 32 years.

THE NEW SENATOR FROM NEW YORK.—Mr. Thurlow Weed has joined the Manhattan Club, and Mr. Roscoe Conkling is elected United States Senator. These facts show the political time of day in the State of New York. They show that the earnest conviction, the pure purpose, the firm determination of the Union party have at last and entirely prevailed over the subtle, hesitating, truckling and dicker policy. The adherents of this policy had made Mr Conkling their especial mark. They had twice concentrated in his district all their power and influence to defeat him. Men claiming to be of his own party had made the most mercenary alliances with his ancient enemies in a close and doubtful canvass. Twice Mr Conkling had fought long and gallantly and triumphantly against the formidable and remorseless coalition. Twice the State had singled out his contest as the most significant of all, and twice by the force of his character, by the unceasing exercise of his trained ability, by his utter superiority to the base arts of politics, and serene trust in the rectitude and intelligence of the people, he vanquished the most desperate and concentrated efforts of venal politicians. His success in each case was the victory of the moral intelligence of the party. It was the triumph of political principle over political chicanery, and the man whose white plume had been seen waving steadily and always in the van had become the object of the affection and gratitude of the great body of his party in the State.

Indeed, the purification of the party in this State by the last election was so complete that at the late senatorial caucus there was no contest of more or less of bunker and radical, but simply of personal and local preference. Both of the real candidates—for we have never supposed Mr Harris was likely to be re-elected—were men of unquestionable ability and fidelity. The western part of the State, which gives great Union majorities, but has never had a Senator, naturally and strongly presented its claims, and in Judge Noah Davis offered a candidate against whom nothing could be personally urged. The opinion of the caucus was very closely divided. Nothing more could have proved the essential strength of the western candidate and position more than the vigorous manner in which he pressed his rival, but not his foe, and when the majority leaned toward Mr Conkling, the friend of Judge Davis was the first to move the unanimity of the nomination, and Judge Davis himself, in a generous little speech to his more fortunate friend, crowned the result by his cordial sympathy and adhesion.

In Roscoe Conkling, the State of New York has a Senator who truly represents the spirit and tendency of her regenerated political principle and policy. Young, fearless, devoted, able, of the profoundest convictions, of much experience acquired in critical and stormy times, with all his brilliant powers disciplined and available, the country no less than the State will find him a man equal to the hour. As Senator White in seconding the nomination of Mr Conkling most truly said, "New York will now have a voice as well as a vote upon all the vital issues with which the country must deal." Her young Senator takes her imperial flag, and will plant it as its motto exhorts, Excelsior!—Harper's Weekly.

THE NEW ORDER OF THINGS AT ROME.—The Naples correspondent of the Paris Temps, writing under date of January 1st, says:

The most perfect agreement seems to be established between the clergy, with the Cardinal at their head, and the civil authorities. The concessions made by the latter are, it must be admitted, complete. The five churches confided by the Government to ecclesiastics belonging to the Liberal party, have been assigned by the Archbishop to others of his own choice, and he interdicts the former from saying mass unless they sign a document recognizing the necessity of maintaining the temporal power. In the mean time the ecclesiastic office charged with the special administration of the property of the convents has been abolished, management of these funds having been absorbed in that of the general direction of the State possessions; this is one wheel less in a machine that has still too many, it is a simplification, and that is something. At the same time, much energy is shown in the application of the law for the suppression of the religious houses. The monks have nearly all left; a small number of them return to their families, others have accepted asylums with persons who have offered hospitality, but the great majority have hired houses, in which they live in common. The dearness of bread and oil, which threatens to increase, begins to occupy the serious attention of the people. What places a great number of families here in a position of difficulty, is the fact that the means of earning money remaining as before, and in some cases having disappeared altogether, the cost of living has increased fourfold from what it was twenty years ago.

VESSELS DESTROYED DURING THE WAR.—A table from the War Department shows the names and character of the various boats destroyed on the Mississippi river and its tributaries from May 1, 1861, to the surrender of Kirby Smith and the cessation of hostilities, June 2d, 1865. An examination of this table shows that most of the boats were steamers, perhaps one tenth being tug boats, ferry boats, etc. The following is a summary of the table of boats destroyed by the casualties of war: Captured and burned by the United States forces, 14, valued at or alleged to be worth $656,000; captured and burned by the rebel forces, 19, valued at $518,500; burned up by United States forces to prevent capture, 10, valued at $250,000; burned by rebel forces to prevent capture, 39, valued at $1,239,000; sunk by rebels to obstruct channels, 24, valued at $546,500; captured and burned by guerrillas, 28, valued $355,000. The summary with regard to the boats destroyed by accidental causes is as follows: Burned by rebel incendiaries, 29, valued at $891,000; by striking snags, 65, valued at $1,240,000; by sundry accidents, 28, valued at $572,000; by collisions, 7, valued at $113,000; by explosion of boilers, 9, valued at 203,500; burned accidentally, 46, valued at $1,035,500. The table further shows that 34 boats were lost in 1861, 83 in 1862, 76 in 1863, 98 in 1864, and 36 in 1865. The aggregate of these figures is 327 boats destroyed, with tonnage of 152,460 tons, valued as at, $8,255,000.

A LONG FOOT RACE.—Two well known German citizens of Nashville have made a bet of one thousand dollars a side, and the money has been already staked, on a foot race between them from that city to Murfreesboro, some thirty two miles distant. The terms are that each contestant shall be at liberty to take the pike or pursue any more desirable route to the point of destination, that neither shall taste food from the time of the moment of commencing the race until the completion, and that the one who shall first report at Murfreesboro is to be considered the winner and take the money. Very considerable interest is manifested in this run, and betting is expected to run high and large sums to change hands on the result.

Those who sell rags and old paper to dealers had better understand what they are doing. A short time ago a careless lady sold her rag bag—or the contents of it—to a peddler, and the next day discovered that she had disposed of a small fortune in greenbacks at the rate of three cents a pound. She never heard anything of the fortunate purchaser. A Boston lady, however, met with better luck. A few days since she sold a quantity of old paper, and shortly after she ascertained that among the old papers was a parcel containing United States bonds to the amount of $1,900, good promissory notes for $450, a note of hand for $75, and a $10 greenback, the whole valued at $2,435. But honesty certainly exists to a remarkable degree in Boston, for the next day the lady received a call from the dealer, who had found the valuable parcel in sorting and returned it entire.

An aged woman, who spent her time in rag picking, has just died in Charlestown, Mass., amid scenes of the greatest distress, filth and poverty. Prior to her decease a skirt was found in her apartment in which there was sewed up several thousand dollars in gold.

DETROIT POST.—The Detroit Post, edited by Carl Schurz, and esteemed to be the organ of Senator Chandler, is said to have sunk its capital of $100,000. It is an excellent paper, but it costs lots of money to sustain excellent papers.

Ladies will be delighted to learn that a new style of bonnet has made its appearance in Paris. It is very simple, consisting merely of a twine string with a diamond set in the top.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 21.—Parties arrested for complicity in the riot on Tuesday last were to have been tried in the Police Court to-day, but their counsel demanded a jury trial and the case was set for 1 o'clock on Saturday. The parties will all be tried together.

One of the Chinamen who was beaten by the mob on Tuesday last, died this morning at the Bee Hup Asylum this morning. The poor man was terribly beaten and sustained a fracture of the skull from some weapon in the hands of the rioters. The death of this man renders this matter a serious one for the defendants, who are now liable to indictment and conviction for manslaughter.

The anniversary of Washington's birthday will be celebrated to-morrow in the customary manner, and will be generally regarded as a public holiday. All the banks and wholesale houses will be closed, the courts will adjourn, and no business of consequence will be transacted.

There was a meeting of laborers and others held in this city last evening for the purpose of organizing to discourage the employing of Chinese labor.

Mr David [illegible] was appointed Chairman and Patrick Creighton Secretary. The Chairman said that for a movement such as they were engaged in, men should divest themselves of prejudices. A committee of twelve, one from each ward, on permanent organization was appointed. The following resolutions were then unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we are opposed to the encouragement of Chinese immigration and will frown down all attempts of capitalists to introduce cheap labor from China to supplant and compete with the white man.

Resolved, That we will not patronize any merchant, manufacturer, contractor, brewer, or any person who in anywise employs Chinese labor.

The rain which commenced about 12 o'clock on Tuesday night has continued almost without cessation up to the present time, and it is still raining. Telegrams from the interior state that the rain has been general throughout the State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 22.—To-day being the anniversary of Washington's birthday it is generally observed as a holiday. It was ushered in by the firing of a national salute by the First California Guards from Union Square, which was repeated at noon and sunset. This evening flags are displayed on most of the public buildings and many private residences; the banks, public offices, courts, and most of the stores are closed.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Herman, which has been undergoing extensive repairs at Benicia, came down yesterday, and will sail for Yokohama one week from to-day. The Colorado, now on her return trip from Hongkong, will follow the Herman April 3d.

Last evening the schooner Buenadia, employed in freighting lumber for the Government from this city to Vallejo, was capsized in a squall between Red Rock and Point San Quentin, and Captain James Gallagher and a seaman, name unknown, were drowned. The cries of the survivors were heard by Mr Wilson, who lives at Red Rock, near California City, and his son Captain Charles Wilson, of the sloop Anna Harley, immediately put off in a small boat and rescued them from their perilous situation. Captain Gallagher was a resident of Vallejo, where he leaves a family.

Yesterday afternoon it was reported that a Chinaman had died at the Bee Hup Asylum from injuries inflicted by the mob. Dr. Harris investigated the matter and ascertained that there was no truth in the report, but on the contrary, found that he had died of pulmonary consumption.

Isaac Leopold, a painter, had his arm and thigh broken at noon to-day from falling from a building on Bush street, opposite the Occidental Hotel.

A correspondent of the Bulletin bears testimony to the earnest endorsement of H. Bugby, who is said by the Bee to be the person nominated in the place of Bigler to succeed Avery as assessor of Sacramento district; but Mr Bugby himself says he never applied for the place, and never thought of himself in that connection until he saw his name in the papers. He thinks that his name has been confounded with that of another person. The telegram gave the name of J. C. Bugby, and the papers changed the initials, making the ex-Sheriff of Sacramento to be the man. It is not improbable after all that the real man is J. H. Bugbee, a lawyer and journalist of Plumas county, a reputed relative of Senator Cole. The names are very similar in sound, and might be easily confounded.

A leather house in this city recently received an order from Japan for an invoice of leather of California manufacture, amounting to $10,000. If the article suits the Japanese, of course other orders will be likely to follow. The leather is designed to be for military accoutrements.

California flour goes east at the rate of 10,000 barrels by each steamer.

The shipment of wheat to Europe and the Atlantic States is limited by the number of ships that are offering, suitable for grain shippers.

The trial of the suit of the United States vs. Red and White Wine, was concluded last evening. The case was submitted to the jury at 4 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock they came into court and stated their inability to agree, and they were discharged. It is understood that they stood nine for defendants and three for the Government. These suits are different from the champagne suits entered some time since. In the case above mentioned a large quantity of red and white wine, bearing various labels, were seized by the Custom authorities for alleged under valuation.

Gold remains at 136¾; Sterling 108½@109; Legal Tenders dull at 73½ buying, and 74 selling. No eastern news to-day.

VIRGINIA CITY, Montana, Feb 20.—A severe snow storm prevailed at Pleasant Valley; the snow drifted six feet in front of the office; it is very cold here.

DENVER, Colorado, Feb 20.—The weather moderate and snow nearly off.

SANTA ROSA, Feb 23.—On the 20th of this month Jose Surana was convicted of murder in the first degree, for killing Jesus Ivara about four years ago. Surana was sentenced to be hung on the 20th of March 1867.

STOCKTON, Feb 23.—The anniversary of the birth of Washington was not generally observed as a holiday, with the exception of a salute of 150 guns fired at noon by the Stockton Light Artillery, and a very pretty street parade by the City Guard—everybody attended to their usual business.

The sudden flow of water in the evening prevented the military and civic ball from taking place. The ball comes off on Monday night. The citizens count upon the ball as being a big thing.

A petition is in circulation, and receiving quite a number of signatures, asking the Board of Supervisors and also the municipal authorities to stay the collection of taxes from widows until such time as the matter can be brought before the Legislature. The efforts of the petitioners, however, are likely to prove futile, as neither the city nor county officers believe that they have any legal right to deviate from the provisions of the law now existing.

The water has receded almost wholly from our streets, and comparatively little damage has been done. A few merchants have sustained small losses from having goods wet in cellars. Several bridges have been carried off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 23.—The trial of the parties charged with complicity in the mobbing of the Chinese laborers, is progressing in the police court before a jury. The defendants, it seems, are John Stockgate, Henry Martin, M. Burns, Wm. O'Hearn, John Connelly, John O'Sullivan, Frank Harrison alias John Borit, Pat Malony, Chas. Massey alias McMahon, and Wm. McAlister. An hour and a half was spent in empanelling a jury, the counsel for defendants generally challenging those who employed Chinese in their business.

The dead body of a new born babe was found on the sidewalk in St. Mark's Place last night and conveyed to the Coroner's. It was wrapped in a muslin cloth and covered with a gunny sack.

Wm. O'Hearn, the soldier who attempted suicide last week in consequence of having been robbed of his money by gamblers, is reported as likely to recover.

The Continental was to have followed the Montana on Thursday, but owing to the delay in getting her freight on board, in consequence of rain, did not sail until to-day.

The P. M. S. S. Montana left Panama on Friday, the 16th, connected with the steamer Rising Star, which left New York Feb. 1st, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Markets.

Trade during the week has been much restricted in consequence of the storm which began on Monday night and continued with slight interruption for three days.

In coal oil standard brands are now selling at 67@70 per gallon, the latter figure prevailing.

The market for coffee, sugars and teas is quite firm. Of coffee there is no Costa Rica or Java in first hands. Costa Rica 23¾ and Manila 22. The stock of teas is becoming reduced in the long continued absence of arrivals from China. The agent of the refineries continue to supply the trade with crushed and coffee sugar at the usual terms. In lots of 100 lbs, 10½@11c for yellow C. Hawaiian sugars are buoyant, the range being 7¼c@8 cents per pound.

Flour—The export demand is pretty much confined to New York and China, and for the present is rather quiet. There is a fair jobbing trade at current rates. We quote superfine in sks at $5@5 50, qr sks $6 25@6 50, extra in sks $5 75@6.

Barley—very little enquiry.

Shipping.

Arrived—Feb 21—Schooner Isabella, 27 days from Colorado; sch Florence, 30 days from Guaymas; schr W. F. Bowne, 24 days from Colorado; sch Fannie Hare, 38 days from Carmen Island.

Sailed—Feb 22—Ship Bridgewater, Liverpool; Br bark Corinth, Liverpool; brig Franklin Adams, Puget Sound.

A NEWSPAPER SUCCESS.—The most extraordinary newspaper success of the age is the Paris Evenement, which in ten months has attained a circulation of 48,000 copies. In these ten months it is calculated that $100,000 have been paid for paper, and that $30,000 have been spent among publishers for books given as premiums to subscribers. Twenty eight thousand dollars have been paid to the different writers engaged on the paper. 151 persons are employed in the office of the paper and in the printing department. There are 26 compositors, 2 correctors, 6 stereotypers, 31 pressmen, 15 carriers, 20 clerks, 36 folders, and 5 porters. Taking, in addition to the above, the different people who, in Paris and the provinces, are more or less dependent on the paper, it is supposed that it finds a living for not less than 3,000 individuals.

A crinoline manufacturer in Saxony has made during the last ten years no less than 963,784,000 hoop skirt springs, or enough to go around the world thirteen times and a half. His business will probably slack off a trifle during the coming year.

An Irish editor, in speaking of the miseries of Ireland, says: "Her cup of misery has been for ages overflowing and is not yet full."

Southern Railroad Thieves.

A curious phase of Andrew Johnson's administration is to be found in the history of his transfer of the railroads used for military purposes to their Southern owners or claimants. We had under our control, when the rebel armies surrendered, considerably over two thousand miles of railroad, employing a working and construction force of some thirty thousand men. The construction force was one of the most remarkable organizations of the war, and its operations show how greatly modern progress has changed and modified the logistics of military science.

The equipment, repair and running of this immense net work of roads cost the Government over forty millions, about half of which was expended for wages. In the report of Gen. McCullom, can be found some interesting statistics on the subject. Among them the following give some startling contrasts. Of locomotives there was captured, 115; built, 36; purchased, 282; total, 433. Of cars captured, 616; bought, 5,380; built, 609; total 6,609. This rolling stock was disposed of as follows: locomotives lost or destroyed, 61; sold for cash, 146; on credit by Executive, 169; returned, 112; total, 433. Of cars there were lost, 1,045; sold for cash, 2,325; on credit, 2,643; returned, 591; total, 6,605.

Some points are deducible from these figures. We captured from the rebels 115 locomotives and returned 112, after losing 61. In addition to this, Mr. Johnson has given away to these corporations, 169, making a total of 281—166 more than our armies took from the enemies, the men who are now being enriched by the results of our labor, blood and sacrifice. As to other rolling stock, we captured of cars, 616; and lost or destroyed during the war, 1,045—429 more than were originally taken from the rebels. Not content with this fact, which should in all reason have made us quits, Mr. Johnson returned 591—within 25 of the number originally captured. In addition to that, he turns over on Executive order, for nominal credit, 2,644—making a total contribution from the national treasury in the matter of cars, of 3,235. No wonder the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia roads, which were the main beneficiaries in this wholesale benevolence of Mr. Johnson, are all driving a big trade and making money.

When these roads were transferred, some sort of notes were taken in payment of the stock sold nominally on credit. They were to be paid from month to month, I believe, as they fell due. Time passed, and no payments being made, the Quartermaster General ordered suits to be commenced for the recovery of the debts. Mr. Johnson was apprised of this, and he immediately directed the withdrawal of all the suits. So the Southern roads go "scott free." This, however, is not the end of it. When the North Carolina roads were restored, General Schofield's Quartermaster, General J. F. Boyd, acting on his own responsibility, took a bond from each company that they would not prosecute any claim for the use of their roads or stock against the Government. The form used in this case was afterward adopted by General McCullom, and all quartermasters ordered to use it, when the order of Mr. Johnson appeared, and made it useless.

The result of this is, that enormous claims are now being filed against the Government, for its use of its own stock, and of the roads which it rebuilt, equipped and kept in repair. "My Policy" is certainly the biggest kind of a thing when viewed in the light of such transactions as these. These railroad men believe that all their claims will be paid. If it rests with Mr. Johnson, so they will be.—Washington Correspondent Boston Evening Voice.

AN ENTERPRISING REPORTER.—The New York Herald reporter's thirst for news has led him to commit a felony. In the trial of the Fenians at Sweetsburg, Canada, on the 10th ult., Mr. Devlin, one of the counsel for the prisoners, stated that he had prepared seventy pleas to the thirty-five indictments, but that, unfortunately, he was then able to file only five or six of them, the remainder having been abstracted from his drawer. The trial was, therefore, suspended for one day. Meantime, Consul General Averill, at Montreal, was telegraphed to to cause the arrest of the Herald Reporter, who was known to be on the way thither. The arrest was accordingly made, and upon a search of the enterprising reporter's baggage the missing documents were recovered.

For the benefit of those who discuss the subject of population, war, pestilence, famine, etc., it may be as well to mention that the number of human beings living at the end of the hundredth generation, commencing from a single pair, doubling at each generation (say in thirty years), and allowing for each man, woman and child an average space of four feet in hight, and one foot square, would form a vertical column having for its base the whole surface of the earth and sea spread out into a plain, and for its hight 3,674 times the sun's distance from the earth. The number of human strata thus piled one on another would amount to 460,790,000,000,000.

MINNESOTA.—The St. Paul Press estimates the present population of Minnesota at not less than 360,000. It arrives at these figures in the following way: The number of children between 5 and 21 in the State at the time of taking the census of last year was 87,244. The entire population was 250,000. Hence the number of "schoolable children" was one-third of the entire population. Partial returns in the office of the Secretary of State show that the number of children this year is 102,218. Multiplying by three, the above result is obtained.

CUSTOMS REVENUE.—The receipts from Customs at the four principal ports during the week ending January 12, were as follows: New York, $3,334,465 10; Boston, $226,327 21; Philadelphia, $105,488 11; Baltimore, $109,967 42.

These returns exhibit a large increase as compared with the receipts of the previous week. The receipts at New York show an increase of nearly two millions of dollars, Boston nearly fifty-three thousand dollars, Philadelphia upwards of twenty nine thousand dollars, and Baltimore upwards of ninety-one thousand dollars.

Not long since a Woman's Rights Convention was in session in a certain city not a thousand miles from here. The horse cars were, of course, unusually crowded. One afternoon a severe looking female entered a car, and an old gentleman rose to give her a seat. "Be you one of these women rights?" he asked. "I be," replied the ancient. "You believe a woman should have all the rights of a man, do you?" he inquired. "Yes, I do," was the emphatic answer. "Then," said the man, "stand up, and enjoy them like a man." And she had to stand up.

New Routes for the World's Commerce

A few days ago the telegraph announced that vessels had begun to pass through the Suez Canal The Red Sea is therefore joined with the Mediterranean, and a new route to India, shorter by many thousands of miles than that by the Cape of Good Hope, is open to the commercial nations of Europe

This work is another of the truly great achievements of the present age Its counterpart is already projected in the enterprise of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien Now that the Suez Canal is so far completed as to admit of the passage of vessels through it, who will venture to assert that this other project is not equally feasible, and that it has not a prospect of success?

The Suez Canal was constructed under the patronage of the Emperor of France This magnate has been carrying out parts of a design conceived by the founder of his royal line The expedition of Napoleon into Egypt in 1798, was undertaken mainly for the purpose of effecting a lodgment on the farther shores of the Mediterranean, preparatory to his grand design of obtaining full control of the East and pushing his conquests toward India The idea of conquest has necessarily been abandoned, but France, by means of the great canal, is placed in a most favorable position with reference to the trade of the populous regions of Asia The commerce of Asia and Europe will now take a new route Madras, Bombay, Calcutta and the cities of China and Australasia, are brought nearer to Europe. The change in the routes of commerce must eventually prove of the greatest advantage to France Her cities on the shores of the Mediterranean will begin a new life A very large share of the world's commerce will again, as in ancient times be wafted over that great sea upon whose coasts, the Phœnicians, earliest navigators, resided Alexandria may regain something of its former importance and renown The growth of commerce will infuse new vigor into Smyrna and Constantinople. Cities whose history may be said to have ended centuries ago, may revive and become great again.

The Darien Canal is a work of equal importance. It will shorten the routes of commerce, and bring parts of the world, hitherto commercially distant, much nearer each other The advantages which these two great enterprises will confer on commerce, are incalculable That they will both succeed will hardly be doubted when we recall the other great performances of the present age.

The Responsible Party.

The following is going the rounds of the Democratic press:

"The Mongrels are full of troubles. They dare not try Jefferson Davis. The late decision of the Supreme Court shows that the incarceration of Dr Mudd and others at the Dry Tortugas is illegal. Surratt is also likely to prove a very big elephant on their hands, for they cannot now try him by military commission, and his trial in a court of law will very likely to disclose the fact that his mother had no more to do with the killing of Lincoln than Charles Sumner had. They are, therefore, in a fair way to become murderers themselves in the eye of the law"

It would be well if those who favor the world with such opinions as the above, would accustom themselves to speak in more precise language Who "are in a fair way of becoming murderers in the eye of the law" for the trial and execution of Mrs. Surratt? The burden of the whole affair rests on one individual, and that one individual is our present Democratic Chief Magistrate, Mr Andrew Johnson. He organized the Military Commission, he named the officers who constituted it; he approved the proceedings of the military tribunal; he sanctioned the judgment it pronounced, he refused the accused parties a trial in a civil court, and finally, when the hour appointed for their execution arrived, he peremptorily denied Mrs. Surratt's special application for a writ of habeas corpus. Let us therefore, have this matter well understood. If any body is to be branded as a "murderer" for his share in this transaction, let it be the man who is solely responsible for the existence of the Military Commission which sent the assassins to the gallows

"THE 'HUMBLE' SOUTH."—A Dr. Crawford has returned from the South, and says that the white inhabitants there are very humble, because they are in a state of great destitution; there being "twenty thousand widows and sixty thousand orphans nearly all dependent, and fifty thousand Georgians incapable of supporting themselves" On this the Detroit Tribune writes the following

The World quotes Dr. Crawford's statements to prove that the South is not defiant The following extract from an editorial, in a journal published considerably nearer the equator than the doctor lives, will show the kind of humility which prevails in Dixie -

"We have another bit of information which we wish to impart to the fossil mummy occupying the gubernatorial chair of Alabama The Radicals cannot, will not, be appeased. Gov. Patton may bend the 'pregnant hinges' of his very supple knees, he may unloose the latchet of Radical shoes, he may cravenly take off their stinking buskins, and kiss their unwashed feet, he may roll over in the dust like a whipped puppy, or crawl like a slimy snake, and lick up the foul saliva which they spit from their unclean mouths, he may prostrate himself upon a dunghill, and, quivering like a pyramid of jelly, with uplifted hands and streaming eyes, exclaim, 'Pure, immaculate, spotless, matchless, stainless, superlatively transcendent Radicalism, I surrender! what wouldst thou have me do?'—we say, Gov Robert M. Patton may do all these things, and the cruel masters whom he proposes to serve with such abject servility will not for a moment pause in their wild, crazed course of persecution and innovation."

Our humble, starving Southern brethren, who have not yet made up their minds to beg, for fear that doing so would please the North, and who endeavor to forget the emptiness of their stomachs by employing their tongues and pens in such utterances as the foregoing—shall we kill the fatted calf, and then send a deputation to implore them to come and make merry with it? or shall we let it frisk a little longer in the pasture?

Jeremiah S. Black, familiarly known in other days as "Buchanan's man Jerry," has lately been disinterred, and has given the country another opinion on matters of constitutional law. It will be remembered by many that this expounder of the Constitution, just before the beginning of the war, gave a solemn, official opinion that there were no constitutional means whereby secession could be forcibly resisted And this man now gets out of his grave, and gives another opinion! So also, we are told that

> * * * The sheeted dead
> Did squeak and gibber in the Roman streets.

PROGRESS OF WORK AT THE SPRINGFIELD ARMORY—A Springfield (Mass) despatch of January 15th, says the preparations at the Armory for the work on the order for 25,000 new breech loaders for the Government, have been completed and for the present about fifty guns a day will be turned out. They are the old Springfield muskets altered, and make a very beautiful and effective arm. Martin's 'central fire cartridge,' an invention of Edward Martin, a workman at the Armory, perfected about a year ago, will be used with them The advantage this cartridge has over others made on the same principle is, that the anvil on which rests the fulminate is not blown out by the explosion but remains in the shell These cartridges were manufactured at the Frankfort, Kentucky, Arsenal

They have some charming specimens of meekness and "loyalty" in Texas. The Christian Companion published at Jefferson, in that State says "We believe in the bible as it is, and the Constitution of the United States as it was Our fight, if we must fight, is against the Radicals and the Devil" Again "Who is so base a coward that he will not again unsheath his sword in defense of Constitutional liberty? Shall the fanatical Radicals usurp the last vestige of the glorious Constitution bequeathed to us by our fathers? Veteran soldiers to the front! March to your tents, O Israel! Imminent danger surrounds us Organize! Organize!"

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO FEBRUARY 21.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES

Congressional.

WASHINGTON Feb 20—In the Senate yesterday Conness proposed the appointment of a conference committee, intimating that it had no faith in the action of the [illegible] in the House In case of the rejection of the [illegible] he should object to any compromise Since the House had rejected its concurrence [illegible] in favor of laying the bill on the table and taking up the Louisiana bill and urging it to all the [illegible]

In the Senate the chair submitted the certificate from the Governor of Pennsylvania that the State had ratified the Constitutional amendment

The bill [illegible] the Indian Bureau was considered, the question being on the transfer of the bureau to the War Department when the Speaker announced the action of the House on the reconstruction bill

Williams of Oregon moved that the Senate concur

In the House yesterday the Senate amendments to the House bill to grant titles to land in Santa Clara making the bill also apply to Petaluma and Placerville were on motion of McRuer of California, non-concurred in A committee of conference was asked.

In the House yesterday the bill giving the right of way and making a grant of land to the Sierra Nevada and Contra Costa Navigation Canal Company, was recommitted and ordered printed

NEW YORK, Feb 20—In the House Wilson, of Iowa, moved concurrence in the Senate amendment to the reconstruction bill with an amendment disqualifying, as members of all State Central Conventions any person excluded by the pending constitutional amendment from holding office.

Blaine, of Maine, having moved the previous question objected After debate the House refused to second the previous question

Shellabarger moved as a new section of the Senate amendment that until the people of the rebel States be admitted to representation in Congress the present State governments be deemed provisional, subject to the paramount authority of the United States to abolish modify control or supersede At all elections under the same only those shall vote who are entitled under the provision of the 5th section No person shall be eligible to office who would be disqualified under the 3d section of the pending constitutional amendment The question recurring, on the Senate amendment as amended it was agreed to—ayes 125 noes 46 The bill was sent back to the Senate

In the House the National Military bill was recommitted The House passed a bill to render applicable to seamen of the United States navy and to marines the provisions relating to the pensions in the appropriation bill of July 1866

A bill directing the Secretary of the Navy to distribute $190,000 the value of the piratical steamer Alabama to the officers and crew of the steamer Kearsarge was considered, but without action

The army appropriation bill was then taken up A motion to strike out the second section was rejected ayes 41 noes 96 Among the ayes were Bingham, of Ohio Davis, of New York, Kuykendall of Illinois Loan, of Missouri Blaine, of New York, and Raymond of New York The bill then passed by 85 to 32.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the tax bill The tax on cigarettes cheroots and cigars of all descriptions was fixed at $5 per 1000 The tax on grape brandy of fifty cents per gallon was stricken out—leaving the tax $2. The House then took a recess till 7 30 P M

WASHINGTON, Feb 21—In the House, Howell, of Michigan, from the Pacific Railroad Committee, moved to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the bill for aiding the construction of a railroad from Lawrence, Kansas, to the Mexican boundary. Also from further consideration of the bills to aid Southern Atlantic and Pacific railroad He was directed to say that the reason the motion was made was with a view to expedite business and not to prejudice these measures The Committee was discharged as requested

In the House, Hooper, of Massachusetts, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill to provide for the payment of compound notes, and to prohibit the contraction of currency He claimed that this was in conformity with instructions of the House contained in Grinnell's resolution An animated debate arose on the subject of the report being read The House, however, refused to receive the report The bill provides for exchange of the notes for certificates bearing interest at 3 and 6½ per cent. The amount due this fiscal year is $140,000,000

Washington News

NEW YORK, Feb 21—In the House, yesterday, Price, of Iowa, renewed his objections to the clause in the Internal Revenue bill, taxing grape brandy fifty cents, claiming that all brands should pay the same tax, and that exception in this case opened a door to enormous frauds He was supported by Dodge and Darling of New York, the latter sending to the Clerk letters showing the pernicious effect the discrimination in favor of the grape brandy would have on the Revenue. Price's motion to strike out the clause was opposed by Higby, of California, and Boutwell of Massachusetts.

Postal service between San Francisco and Prescott, Arizona, will hereafter be semi weekly

The House has voted an appropriation for reservations for Colorado river Indians

A bill to aid the construction of a railroad from San Francisco to Humboldt Bay will probably pass in a day or two It gives twenty sections of land per mile.

The House concurred in the amendments to the bill granting titles to lots in Petaluma and Placerville. Some action was taken last session for Benicia and Santa Cruz

WASHINGTON Feb 20—It is understood that ex-Governor Thomas H Ford and Solon on Hinckley have been retained as counsel for Surratt. The prisoner was yesterday delivered to the marshal, and asked by the latter if his name was John H. Surratt He replied, 'It is, sir.' Hitherto he has repeatedly denied his identity

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has submitted to the Secretary of the Interior, two lists of selections of land in Oregon under the 500,000 grant of 1864, amounting to 110,584 in the Oregon City district, and 75,513 in Roseburg district

The House passed the Senate joint resolution extending facilities to citizens of the United States who were in the survey of a route for a ship canal in the Isthmus of Darien

NEW YORK, Feb 21—The World's special says the indictment against Surratt was so defective that it is said it has been quashed. A new indictment has been drawn presenting him as accessory and not as principal in the murder of the President

The Herald's special dispatch says Blair, Sr, has gone to Boston to urge Gov Andrews to accept the position of Secretary of State by authority and in connection with the universal suffrage party

The Tribune's special dispatch says the action of the House in referring the loan bill to the committee on banking was intended to defeat the measure. There is no possibility of the committee being called again this session The Ways and Means committee will bring in a new bill as a substitute, prohibiting the contraction of greenback currency

The Times' special dispatch says The President will most undoubtedly veto the reconstruction bill His action will doubtless be communicated to Congress in a week or two Evidently Johnson's course is not a reflex of the opinions of the President. The latter does not regard the bill as a finality, but as leaving the whole question open to the action of a future Congress The military feature of the bill is particularly obnoxious to the President

The World of this morning urges an early and open veto to escape the trap the Republicans have laid for the President The bill, bad as it is, is more favorable than any that is likely to be passed in its stead If passed over a veto it will prevent the exclusion of the South from the next Presidential election.

The Commissioner of the land office has received from the Surveyor General at San Francisco a return of surveys for patents confirmed, among which are the following Tomas de Santiago 47,220 acres, and 2,700 acres to Juan Temple.

Miscellaneous

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 24—Sr Godoy, Consul for the Mexican Republic has received official news of the occupation of the city of Colimo by the Republican army under Corona on the second of the present month On that day the imperial army capitulated. Consul Godoy has also official information of the taking of Tehauntepec by the Liberals on the 17th of December, 1866 The Consul is informed that after the capture of Colima and garrison Gen Corona allowed of no violent proceedings on the part of his army, and perfect peace now reigns there

Rumors of sickness on the Isthmus having been received here by telegraph from New York, the Montana was overhauled by order of Health Commissioner Elliott on her arrival yesterday It was found that no unusual sickness had occurred on board and she was allowed to come at once to the wharf, a clean bill of health being given

A superb first class fire engine imported from New York for Government at Fort Vancouver W T, was shipped on the steamer Continental yesterday

A fire broke out last night in the pattern shop connected with the Miners foundry The fire department however soon got the flames under control and kept it confined to the pattern shop until finally the flame was totally extinguished The foundry is owned by [illegible] land Angel & King and is one of the most extensive manufactories on the Pacific coast The loss cannot be correctly estimated at the present writing owing to the fact that the shop was filled with patterns of every description many of them very costly and it is not known how many were destroyed The proprietors had several large contracts for work, which will probably be delayed for a short time owing to the destruction of patterns

The third deposit of $1,000 of the $5,000 for which Tom Chandler and Harris are to contend in a twenty four foot ring, has been placed in the hands of the stakeholders, the men having been matched, their preparations [illegible] Chandler is in training at the Turf House near the ocean beach under the direction of that famous trainer Joseph Winrow, while Harris has taken up quarters at Mayfield where he is attended by a brother of Dave White, the Australian boxer

Harry Hamill was before the police magistrate yesterday morning charged with committing assault and battery on Father Gallagher the Catholic Priest The Rev father was coming out of church when accused stepped up and cracked him in the face The defendant made a statement in a rambling manner which showed he was evidently laboring under a hallucination He had frequently informed Father Gallagher that he would do [illegible]

Green peas appeared in market yesterday selling at [illegible] per pound

By the arrival of the Montana we have files of the Panama Star to February 8th An earthquake [illegible] in Panama on the 20th of January Great uneasiness was felt throughout Costa Rica, [illegible] in Nicaragua

A body of priests of the order of San Francisco who emigrated to Costa Rica in November last were expelled from the country by the authorities [illegible] out of the country.

The coffee crop has turned out very large, and will yield it is calculated [illegible] one half of which has already been packed

It is expected that a railway will shortly be made from Callao to Magdalena An expedition of Government sent to explore the Amazon has found it navigable for nearly 1,600 miles distant from Huacho

Weather yesterday and to-day spring like.

SACRAMENTO, Feb — [illegible] on the Placerville route to-day and no trains over the Central Pacific Railroad

SAN RAPHAEL, Feb — One of the Indians brought to this place charged with the murder of T J McKeon, at Tomales, on the 13th inst, died this morning from the effects of wounds received upon his capture

PLACERVILLE, Feb — [illegible] late heavy storms in the mountains all the wires over the Sierras have been prostrated and snow is so deep in places as to entirely cut off all communication [illegible] Snow was five feet deep yesterday but too soft to permit of travel on wheels. The guards tried to break a track on foot but failed after working all day. We look for a restoration of communication to-day A strong force are out on the line repairing it

STATE ITEMS

The Corvallis College opened the February term under favorable auspices and with an increase of patronage

An Academy building is to be erected in Lafayette Bids are advertised for the same to be let on the second day of April, ensuing As the building will constitute a job of no mean magnitude the Courier anticipates that it will be the object of such competition as will secure to the district the services of experienced and competent mechanics, at a rate of compensation which shall not be exorbitant

The following are the officers elected at the McMinnville Lodge I O G T for the term ending May 1 1867 John H Hall, W C T, Miss Annie Warren W R H S Miss Susan Berry, W L H S Miss Caroline Martin W V T Chas L Warren W S Miss S M Bean W A S H F Warren W F S Miss Flora Smith W T Henry Brown W M Miss Elmira Rush W D M Miss Elizabeth Rush, W I G I M Johns W O G, J K Story P W C T Mrs Mary Johns W C

The Corvallis Gazette says "Messrs Smith and Rudd farmers, living near Beoria, in Linn county shipped from this place, via the P T Co's steamer Reliance on Friday last, eleven head of horses for San Francisco They had raised all of them except two and not needing them on their farms concluded to ship them to San Francisco They are all represented as good roadsters and will make the mile inside of four minutes Low freights between Portland and San Francisco is a great advantage to this upper country

The following is a notice put forth by G H & H Caples, notifying all concerned of their intention to found a new town on the lower Columbia river "At the urgent request of many friends, the undersigned have located a town site one mile below St Helens, at a place known as Caples Woodyard on a donation land claim where the title to lots can be made good without litigation—where beauty of location is unsurpassed on the Columbia river for such purposes We propose to give every alternate lot to any persons who will build a house or other buildings upon the same. And to any company on the coast wishing to locate or improve at this point, we will give a liberal donation of land

The Lafayette Courier says "We sometime since referred to the fact that the mail service between this place and the Capital direct, had been discontinued About the middle of November last petitions were drawn up by Mr Marion Hendrix, of Wheatland, and ourself to be circulated at Salem, Lafayette and intermediate points for signatures praying for the immediate establishment of a weekly service from Salem via Wheatland to this point. These petitions bear the names of many hundreds of citizens who are vitally interested in the issue, but have not been collected together and forwarded yet On November 20th we wrote to Senator Nesmith on the subject, who replies, under date of January 4th as follows There evidently must be some misapprehension upon the subject, as I fancy the Department would not knowingly deprive so large a scope of country of its usual mail facilities As you state that petitions numerously signed will be forwarded to me shortly upon this subject I have concluded to delay action until they arrive Had said petitions been forwarded, a large extent of country now practically denied mail facilities would have been accommodated with this much needed service In consequence of the circuit the mails from Salem have to make to reach this point, the papers published there are generally a week old by the time they arrive here"

Recognition of the Rebel States by Secretary Seward

In the debate in the House on the 19th of January upon Stevens' Enabling Act, Schofield, of Pennsylvania, said

That strong as the Republic was it could not afford to leave the people of the South in a chronic state of discontent, to let that section of the country be to the United States what Ireland was to England and Poland to Russia. He gave credit to both parties for a desire to reconstruct the Union, but they proceeded to that end by different roads The Democratic party, however, seemed to have come to the conclusion that the Republican policy, in the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery and in the Civil Rights bill, was right. At least, no one seemed to have any disposition to take the back track If the Confederate States were brought back into the Union it would be found that the lost cause would take the place in politics that the slavery question had occupied The Republican party, however, proposed to bury that 'lost cause,' as four to one, and twenty three out of twenty six States had approved it and elected Legislatures pledged to carry it out Only three States had given a negative answer—Delaware, three counties large, Maryland, deceived by her own Governor, and Kentucky, which never during the war rose above a dissembling neutrality "What, then, stood in the way? Not the President of the United States because neither the Constitution nor the laws committed the question in any way to him Not the Democratic party, for it was virtually dead A perfidious Secretary, one old man, charged by law with declaring the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment, who sought to preserve the debris of the Confederacy—he stands in the way He is plotting now a theory of estoppel He takes the position that the will of the twenty six States, if it had been unanimous, must go for nothing unless two or three millions of rebels in the late Confederate States sanction it How does he expect to ignore that doctrine? Does he expect to get the sanction of the people? No, sir He has tried that and failed Will Executive patronage do it? That has failed, also. But the Secretary proposes to associate with himself one other old man, who happens to hold the balance of power on a bench of nine Judges charged with the decision of questions of law This old diplomatist in the Department of State is preparing for his co diplomatist on the bench the precedent by which he is to govern An Englishman once exhibiting the quality of his kennel to an American traveler, came upon an old dog who was nearly used up "That," said the nobleman "is the best dog in the pack, he is lame and blind, deaf and old, but still the most valuable animal I have' 'For what?' said the traveler "His education was good, and his sense of smell is still perfect and we take him out to put the puppies on the track and then return him" I know Mr Speaker, that it is hardly dignified to compare the Secretary of State to that old pointer and I will tell you why I am not going to make the comparison Said the nobleman, 'I have owned the dog fifteen years, and hard as he looks, he never bit the hand that fed him or barked upon a false trail'" [Laughter and applause]

The Speaker hammered his mallet to restore order Schofield, mistaking the object of the Speaker, inquired whether his time was out "No," suggested Stevens, in a low tone of voice, "he is only calling you to order for doing injustice to the dog"

Mr Schofield resuming, said that this old judge at the direction of this old diplomatist, undertook to decide that the people of the country had no power in it and undertook by a single twitch of his gown, to launch into the Government the debris of the Confederacy, like an old torpedo unexploded, but with lighted fuse The Secretary had chosen, without authority of law, to send the Constitutional Amendment to the Confederate States, and solicit their action upon it, and then pointed to that as a precedent for his judge He was trying to get all the branches of the Executive department to take action that would make further precedents The Secretary of the Interior was instructed by him to send to the rebel communities agricultural scrip which can only be given to States, and the Treasury and Post office Department were being urged out of their way to give in some shape or other a recognition too But what the Secretary relied upon most was the continued existence and toleration of his own pet governments by Congress He would say that the Executive Departments had recognized them as States, and that Congress had seen his little State governments running down there a year, a year and a half or two years and had done nothing to set them aside

The popular discontent in France with the new army scheme is so great that the Government deems it the wisest policy to retrace its steps and make concessions At a recent supplementary election for the Legislative body, the candidate of the Liberal party based his claims to the confidence of the voters chiefly on his uncompromising opposition to the reorganization of the army The effect which this position produced upon the minds of the people in a district where the Liberal candidate at the last general election had only polled a few hundred votes appeared so dangerous that the Government candidate was instructed to declare in favor of an important modification of the proposed plan Notwithstanding this retrograde movement of the Government, the Liberal candidate received more than 9,000 votes No wonder that the Council of State has declared against the plan

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THE OLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY 69 First Street has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco with ALL THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS, is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art

RAILROADS IN NEW YORK.—There are many schemes for a railroad in New York among others is a steam railroad underground While the people in New York are in a quandary which railroad to favor the people of Oregon favor KOHN & FISHEL with their custom which they will always reciprocate by selling the best and most fashionable clothing, gents furnishing goods etc for the least money

SUCCESSFUL BURGLARY—STOWELL, CHAMBERLAIN & Co's SAFE BLOWN OPEN AND ROBBED—Our town was startled on Friday morning by the discovery of a great burglary in the Banking Office of Messrs Stowell, Chamberlain & Co The safe was a double one made by Lewis Lillie & Son of the largest size weighing many thousand pounds The burglars obtained an entrance into the office by prying open one of the windows with a jimmy In the lower left hand corner of the right hand outer door of the safe, which was two inches thick, a hole was drilled through which powder was introduced It was blown open separating the outside from the bolts and its casing rendering it a complete wreck The lower hinges of both doors were broken off They next attacked the inside safe which was two feet high, extending the width and depth of the inside of the main safe This safe was one and a half inches thick, made with folding doors They drilled another hole through the right hand door in nearly the same point they had on the outside safe blowing open both doors This gave them access to the money and bonds, amounting to twenty five thousand dollars which they carried off. The larger portion of this belonged to special depositors They also took valuable papers belonging to the firm leaving in their flight a bag of gold and silver, also a hundred dollar bill This safe was made to order by Mr Lillie of chilled iron and was supposed to be burglar-proof as it was a double safe one inside the other with Lillie's combination locks on the outside and inside doors No trace of the burglars has been discovered They came well prepared with jimmies, drills, gunpowder, &c The clerk of the bank did not leave there until twelve o'clock at night The explosion was heard about four in the morning showing they were expeditious in their work fe16d1m

Flour to New York —The San Francisco Gazette and Prices Current of a late date says of Oregon flour:

Recently we have been made up of several invoices from Oregon. The character of this flour is not well adapted to shipment abroad upon long voyages through the tropics, yet for local use it is well liked for certain purposes. Hard bread bakers prefer it at [illegible] perhaps others, yet for shipment it is not sought after.

The Enterprise of the 23d copies the paragraph and "goes after" it very bluntly in language containing a deserved rebuke. It says: We think we see the finger marks of dirty trickery in that paragraph, an attempt to bear the products of Oregon in New York. If there are valid objections to Oregon flour, please state what they consist of. It is a low, vulgar, ill-bred and mercenary fling at the productions of a region vastly superior in every particular to the boasted State of California. This failing to recognize the real merits or superiority of Oregon by Californians has had its day. For the time being it served to retard our progress, but we have at last arrived at a position when the acknowledgment of the California press is no longer a necessity. On that last peg we hang our hat. Oregon flour is on the way to New York. It will go through the "tropics." It will arrive at New York and will be tried by New York bakers. If the New York bakers like it they will buy it. It won't make the difference of a penny per sack to it one what opinion the Gazette and Prices Current or any other newspaper may have of the flour. Oregon is going it alone on this lay out. She is talking to New York. San Francisco has no say in this matter. The ill-natured jealousy of the Gazette, &c. is simply a by-play that may serve to amuse, but it is not worth resentment. Let who will, snarl and prophesy—our flour is going to New York.

Circuit Court—Shattuck Judge —On Saturday February 23d, the proceedings in the Circuit Court were as follows

State of Oregon vs John Brashard indicted for assault and battery on Ada Phillips pleaded guilty; fined $20 and costs.

State of Oregon vs Ann Fenton charge adultery in general dismissed on motion of the Prosecuting Attorney.

State of Oregon vs Owen Pryor indicted for adultery. Jury trial, verdict "not guilty" defendant discharged.

State of Oregon vs Richard Monahan Wm Chance and J E Whiting indictment presented.

John G. Carson vs H. Hyde and heirs of C B Hawley suit to quiet title to lots 3 and 4, block 35 in the city of Portland; decree as prayed for in petition.

J M Strowbridge vs Heirs of D H Lownsdale suit to quiet title to lots 3 and 4, block 31 in the city Portland decree as prayed for in complaint.

W. W Page vs J S Buckle action on promissory note, judgment in favor of plaintiff, for $509.69.

First Congregational Church of Portland —From a small pamphlet just published we gather the following history of this church in Portland: "Early in 1846 Rev J. S. Griffin, Rev H Clarke and G. H. Atkinson preached occasionally in this city to a collection of about a dozen families. In November, 1849, Rev H Lyman arrived and commenced preaching and teaching. His labors were constant and arduous to collect and edify disciples of Christ, and to instruct the youth. In 1850 he began the work of building the present house of worship. The town proprietors, the merchants and other citizens gave liberal subscriptions. Yet much manual labor devolved upon the pastor. On Sabbath, June 15, 1851, the completed edifice was dedicated to the worship of God. On the same day, Rev. H Lyman was chosen acting pastor. Since that time 136 members have been added—53 by profession and 83 by letter, making the whole number of males 60, and females 67. 60 have been dismissed, 8 have died, 2 have been excommunicated, leaving 66 members, February, 1867—31 males and 35 females."

Oregon City Items —The following appears as an advertisement in the Enterprise of the 23d: "To the people of Clackamas, Multnomah, Yamhill and Washington counties. The people of the above named counties are requested to meet at the Court House in Oregon City, March 16th, at 7 o'clock P M, for the purpose of organizing an Agricultural Society. By order of Wm Elliott, Vice President Clackamas County Agricultural Society." The Enterprise, referring to the foregoing call says "There is a certain amount of funds in the treasury of the Association of this county, we understand, which can be appropriated to the purpose of a Fair this year, and we have not a doubt but an Association can be organized which will ultimately be of great advantage to the counties mentioned, as well as others on the Columbia river." ....Probably within the course of three months the Oregon City paper mill will commence the manufacture of printing paper.

Passengers for San Francisco —The following is the passenger list of the steamer Montana, which sailed yesterday morning for San Francisco, J S Wetmore, Jerry Tuck, J W Adams wife and three children, Phillip Smith, E Cahalin, Mrs Hayes, Myers, W W Sargent, J B Harris, Robert Orr, James M Pierce, James Kelly, jr, Wolf Gabel, J W Hughes, wife and three children, [illegible] and wife, Mrs E B Chealle, Miss M A Collins, [illegible], J W Gray, John Berry, Master B Stevens, H [illegible] H Selbert, wife and infant, Miss Hembree, Mrs [illegible] child, J J Hembree, H H Snow, James Smith, O H Ingalls, James Jeffids and lady, Rev Chas L Tierney, C H Stafford, A. Cassey, wife and three children, B. Benjamin and 29 others.

"The Democratic Almanac."—We are indebted to Mr. S. J. McCormick, of the Franklin Book Store, for a copy of "The Democratic Almanac" for 1867, published by Van Evrie, Horton & Co., New York. It is a work of 80 pages, containing in addition to the usual "almanac" matter, articles presenting the Democratic view of "Suffrage," "The results of the late elections; the future mission of Democracy," "Mongrelism," etc., together with President Johnson's veto messages, Departmental and Congressional directories and a considerable amount of political information.

Freights for San Francisco.—The Montana, yesterday, took the following freights for San Francisco: 3,640 boxes of apples, 23,672 sacks of flour, 6 boxes of merchandise, 3 cases of merchandise, 1,000 bundles of staves, 14 bales of staves, 1 case of furniture, 2 bales of sheep skins, 6 cases [illegible], 130 M shingles, 70 bundles of hoop poles, 65 boxes and 8 half barrels, 4 coops fowls, 14 gunnies of bacon, 4 cases of cheese, 52 gunnies of onions, 10 half kegs of lard, 28 half barrels of dried apples, 17 dry hides, 63 green hides, 7 sacks of potatoes, 19 rolls of leather.

Fine Hogs. Mr E. Shoemaker, formerly a farmer of Polk county, had in this city, yesterday, a half dozen full blooded Berkshire breeding hogs which he ships this morning for his ranch in Grand Ronde valley. They are [illegible] specimens of the porcine family. Mr S has been engaged for two or three years in hog breeding, at Grand Ronde, and is endeavoring to supply eastern Oregon with the best and most profitable bloods. The hogs [illegible] this morning were purchased of Messrs. A. Stanton and James Rickey, near Salem.

The "Mountaineer."—William M Hand, late a lieutenant in the Oregon Cavalry, goes up the Columbia this morning, to assume control of the Dalles Mountaineer. We wish him all possible success in his undertaking. William is an old Hand at the business, having been always a "print," and at one time a newspaper proprietor. We extend our list, Will am.

Error.—In our Circuit Court proceedings for Friday an error occurred in the paragraph concerning the case of Henrietta A. Harrison vs John Harrison. It should have read, "divorce granted to plaintiff and leave given to resume the name of her former husband—Younglove."

[illegible] a Concealed Weapon.—Deputy Marshal [illegible] on Saturday arrested John Brashard on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon. The charge will be [illegible] before Recorder Hoffman, this morning.

Wheat [illegible] Freights.—Arrived per Alert, Saturday, February 23d, 619 boxes apples, 2,100 qr sks flour, 212 skr [illegible], 4 bales woolen goods, 2 reams Oregon City paper, 7 hogs, 3 boxes eggs, 3 coops pigs and 1 sk oysters.

Single Shipment to New York.—Messrs Savier & Co., of this city, sent off by the Montana, 1000 barrels of Imperial Extra flour, consigned to Charles Dimon, Esqr, New York, via the Isthmus.

Gone to Sea.—The Couch from Astoria, Saturday, brought information that the Ajax went to sea on Thursday. The Forrester and the schooner Crosby had also sailed.

The "Continental."—The telegraph announces that the propeller steamship Continental sailed for this port on Saturday. She will probably arrive Tuesday night.

Headquarters.—The Headquarters of the Clothing Department of the Pacific are now established at No 92, Front street, Portland, Harman Bros in command. Full-Dress Parade every day.

Boy Wanted.—A steady, industrious boy can find employment at this office.

A Fat Office.—Who would suppose that it costs the Government more to maintain the Consulate at Honolulu than in any other place in the world? Yet such is the fact. The Government is obliged to pay 80,000 per annum to keep its flag flying in the commercial metropolis of the Sandwich Islands? This is the way in which it is done. The Consul gets a salary of $14 000 per annum—only $1,000 less than the Consul at Paris. There is a Marine Hospital on the Island for American sailors. One hundred or one hundred and fifty whalers call there in the course of a year. The sailors go ashore and have a good time, sailor fashion. Many of them get sick, and have to be sent to the Hospital. The Consul has the letting out of the contracts for the maintenance of the Institution, and there is no such thing as competition in the bidding; hence $15,000 is a moderate quarterly expenditure, and so on. If our place hunters knew that so good a thing was lying at so convenient a point as Honolulu, what swarms of them would have precipitated themselves upon the State Department. I do not know, indeed, but that this notice may induce a temporary emigration from your shores in a volume sufficient to excite alarm in the breasts of the timid. Who, in search of a fat foreign appointment, would ever pitch upon the Consulate to the little port of Honolulu? It is only in time, however, that these dainty morsels are found out. It took us fifteen years in San Francisco to ascertain that the best paying office in the State was the Justiceship of the Peace of the Third District.
—Washington Correspondent of the Alta

Texas Affairs

From a letter from Texas written by a Californian and published in the Sacramento Bee, we make the following extracts:

The chagrin and mortification of the rebels at their overwhelming defeat can be better imagined than described. They are a [illegible] rather quiet, waiting, for something to turn up. When they found themselves beaten in a fair fight, the [illegible] their energies and [illegible] [illegible] some thing through the Legislature, which is utterly rebel, and they have succeeded in having the judicial district abolished and we are now attached to San Antonio for judicial purposes. So you see how nicely Texas is reconstructed. I think if some of the tender hearted Conservatives could travel through the South a little and become somewhat acquainted with the sentiments and feelings that actuate these reconstructed gentlemen they would have a very different idea of "my policy" and its workings. I don't know your political sentiments at the present time, but I can assure you that here we are radical to the backbone. Any Union man that lives in the South will perforce become so.

The ignorance and bigotry of the Southern masses are only excelled by their unblushing impudence and prejudice. Nothing but the strong arm of the law and a vigorous but just governmental policy will ever bring them to their senses. You cannot arouse their respect for the Government, for they have none. You must compel submission until education and enlightenment have an opportunity to produce a more healthy state of public sentiment. They still mock at and defy the Government; they are as true rebels to-day as ever, their fangs are thoroughly extracted, but the poison remains. So much for politics. However I will say en passant, that, as for as my office is concerned I care nothing for it. I only accepted it at the earnest solicitation of friends to prevent the other party obtaining it, but now, as the office is entirely abolished, the end is accomplished.

Since the organization of our Courts and the return to civil law, legal business has been flourishing. I have done exceedingly well—my share of the business has been large. At the last term of Court I was employed in every case, one side or the other, and I made five thousand dollars. I was very successful in my civil practice, but not so much so as district attorney. I suppose you can appreciate the difficulty of convicting a thief before a jury of thieves. That is precisely the difficulty that exists here. The defense is certainly the most profitable side of the case. I convicted three persons only before the last Court, but the next Court will be the great one. There are thirty indictments pending which were presented under my jurisdiction—five are for murder. I had prepared myself thoroughly in all those cases, but now as I am legislated out of office I have no chance for either the prosecution or defense.

Prohibitory Laws in South Carolina.—In the Tax Act, passed by the Legislature of South Carolina at its recent session, we find the following: "On the gross amount of receipts from the sale of pictorial newspapers or magazines $25 on every $100," but on the gross receipts of newspapers published in the State $2 on every $100 are levied. This is substantially a law prohibiting the introduction of illustrated periodicals published out of the State, and is like the Alabama law of last year. Such a blow under the circumstances inflicts no loss upon those who make such papers, but it falls heavily upon the welfare of the State, for it is an act of simple barbarism. It is inspired by the same morbid, local feeling which causes the same act to appropriate "For the purchase of artificial legs for citizens of this State who have lost theirs in the service of the country in the recent war, $20,000." It is natural that the South Carolina Legislature should wish to aid the disabled citizens of the State, but for what country did they lose their legs? What South Carolinians lost legs in the service of any country which that very Legislature by the oaths of its members acknowledges except the freedmen who served under the United States flag? The act of the Legislature makes State and country synonymous, or it speaks of the late Confederacy of certain States as the country. In either case its language reveals that hopeless spirit of sectionalism which it would fortify and deepen by a practical suppression of discussion. The law against periodicals is a kind of legislation which aims to gratify passion, and therefore succeeds only in fostering ignorance and vice. The actual pecuniary results of such a prohibition are very small, but such laws would soon ruin a State, and at the present time they can have no other effect than to delay and embarrass that settlement which can only be happily reached by discussion, however wide the difference may be.—Harper's Weekly

The Graefenberg Company's Uterine CATHOLICON does not contain one particle of calomel or mercury, and cases of Female Complaints which require other treatment than the Catholicon are extremely rare. It should be used in all cases of Deranged Monthly Periods, Weakness, Irregular Appetite, Nervousness, Headache, Disturbed Sleep, Acid Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion and Pains and Difficulties connected with the Uterine Organs.

THE UTERINE CATHOLICON

Is a most successful remedy for Gravel and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, while in the troublesome symptoms attending Pregnancy the benefits of the Catholicon are most remarkable. It is a perfect restorer to functional and general health from budding womanhood to the turn of life, and those patients who have used the GRAEFENBERG COMPANY'S UTERINE CATHOLICON find difficulty in expressing their thankfulness for the beneficial effects of this wonderful medicine.

Are you aware that the premonitories of Consumption are Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pains in the side and chest, difficulties of breathing, &c. If you permit these symptoms to run on tubercles will be the result, and end in Consumption. Now if you want to cure these diseases use Allen's Lung Balsam without delay. Consumptives should never give up and think there is no hope until you have tried Allen's Lung Balsam. It has cured many cases that physicians pronounced incurable. Sold by the dealers in family medicine generally. f15d1m

Perry Davis' Pain Killer is really a valuable medicine, and unlike most of the patented articles of the day is used by many physicians. It is particularly desirable in locations where physicians are not near, and in families will often save the necessity of sending out at midnight for a doctor. The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The History of Silk—Its Antiquity and Commerce

This is the caption, chapter three, of "The California Silk Growers Manual" just issued by L Provost, of San Jose, and the following is the chapter itself

Silk, or the splendid material produced by the silk worm was first known in ancient times as ser or serica in China It was there discovered in its own native forests of the mulberry tree In that it was called se, and by transition, ser by the Greeks, and sericum by the Romans, and hence by the different nations of Italy, France and England, it is variously called seta, soie, and silk, at the present day

The silk worm, or bombyx mori, is a precious insect, which is thus denominated from morus, the plant on which it feeds

The cultivation of silk commenced in China seven hundred years before Abraham, and two thousand seven hundred years before Christ The Emperor Houng Ti, "The Emperor of the Earth," who reigned over China more than one hundred years, taught the Chinese to construct houses, ships, mills and other useful works, and the Empress Si Ling Chi, to contribute also to the welfare of the Empire, aided by the women of her household, gathered the silk worms from the trees, took them to her apartments, fed them with leaves of the mulberry, and being sheltered, they yielded silk superior in quality to that produced in the forests She also taught them its manufacture, and how to embroider.

Raising silk, and its manufacture, and the weaving, continued to be the principal occupation of the succeeding Empresses Apartments were appropriated to this purpose in the imperial palace, and soon, from the highest ranks of females, it became the occupation of all ranks in China, and ere long the Emperor, the learned class, the Princes, the Mandarians, courtiers and all the rich were attired in the splendid fabrics of silk, until finally silk became the great and inexhaustible source of the wealth of China From China it was exported to India, Persia, Arabia, and the whole of Asia

The expedition of Alexander to Persia and India first introduced the knowledge of silk to the Grecians, three hundred and fifty years before Christ, and with the increase of wealth and luxury in the Grecian Court, the demand for silk prodigiously augmented Persia also became rich in the commerce of silk, which they procured from China. The ancient Phoenicians also engaged in the traffic of silk, and finally carried it to the east of Europe

At Rome and so late as A. D 280, a silk attire of purple was accounted by an Emperor as a luxury too expensive even for an Empress, its value being equal to that of gold by weight.

In the sixth century two monks arrived at the Court of the Emperor Justinian, at Constantinople, from a missionary expedition to China They had brought with them the seeds of the mulberry, and communicated to him the discovery of the mode of rearing the silk-worms, and although the exportations of the insect from China was forbidden on pain of death, yet by the liberal promises and persuasion of Justinian, they undertook another expedition, and at length returned through Bukaria and Persia to Constantinople in 555, with the eggs of the precious insects concealed in the hollow of their canes or pilgrims' staves, which they had obtained in the far and still more distant country.—Until this time the extensive manufactures of the Phœnician cities of Tyre and Berytus had received their supplies of raw silk through Persia from China. Even to the days of Justinian, according to ancient historians, no person at Constantinople knew that silk was the product of an insect. It was generally supposed to be produced from the bark or leaves of trees, or growing like the finest hair from their branches

In Greece, the culture and manufacture of silk soon overspread the country. The noblest families aided by their example The people of Thebes and Athens, from the time of Justinian, cultivated and manufactured silk for four hundred years, and the Venetians, in the hight of their prosperity and commercial glory, carried supplies of silk from Greece to the whole West of Europe On the downfall of the Roman Empire, Arabia became the seat and center of sciences, of arts and civilization The establishment of the Turkish power in Asia, about the middle of the sixth century, and the subsequent wars, caused great interruption in the caravan trade between China and Persia, and after the conquest of Mahommed II, the Saracens or Arabians planted the mulberry and encouraged the culture of silk everywhere throughout their dominions, both on the islands and on the shores of the Mediterranean, silk and mulberry trees were introduced into Spain and Portugal by the Arabians, on their conquest of these countries in 711.

From Greece the cultivation of silk was introduced to Sicily and Naples Roger, king of Sicily, in his invasion of Greece, in 1140, introduced, by compulsion, many silk weavers and manufacturers, whom he carried to Palermo In twenty years the manufactures of Sicily became famous, being adorned with various colors and figures, interwoven with gold and embellished with pearls Here it long mysteriously remained and it was not until 1340 that it had extended to Piedmont, and indeed, to all Italy So extensive is its cultivation at the present day throughout Italy, that, according to Count Dandolo, two thirds of the whole exports to all countries consist of silk

Its introduction into France was in 1494, but no very important results succeeded until 1564, Traucat, a gardener of Nismes, established the first foundation of a nursery of white mulberry trees, with an effect so successful, that from this source the cultivation extended within a few years, over the whole of the southern provinces of France, but its final and more complete establishment in France, in 1603, is due to Henry IV, who encouraged the formation of nurseries and the manufacture of silk, even in the northern as well as the middle provinces of the kingdom, and whose name is held in perpetual remembrance for his noble deeds of goodness, and works of usefulness Oliver de Serres shares equally with him the glory of the effectual work, which was, at first, opposed even by Sully, from mistake and misapprehension. Colbert, in a succeeding age, continued his fostering Both Colbert and his illustrious predecessor, by bounties judiciously bestowed, caused both the mulberry tree and its culture, to strike deep and permanent roots in the soil of France

Once established, it has stood, unmoved by every revolution and storm, unprotected and alone, while all things else have fallen This important industry has flourished until, finally, silk and its manufacture has become one of the most productive resources of the wealth and power of France.

It was estimated that in the year 1845, silk from France, to the amount of fifty millions of francs, was exported from that country to the United States alone Yet in France although they raise so much silk, they export annually to the amount of seventy millions of francs of raw silk, or nearly one third of all they consume in their manufactories

In England, the climate, from its humidity, or other causes, is found to be unfitted to its growth For this reason alone, the trials to raise it there have failed Yet, from 1821 to 1828, according to an authentic work on the silk trade, they imported of raw silk 24,157,653 pounds worth $120,787,360, of this amount $59,681,285 came from Italy alone

The sudden and extraordinary extension of the silk manufactures, both in France and in England has been mainly ascribed to the machine invented in France, by M Jacquard, then the powerful impulse thus given has been assigned to the Jacquard loom This loom is stated to perform all those labors which had heretofore been confined to the most skillful hands, with important economy of time and labor in the preliminary steps, and so decidedly superior to all other looms for all the curious varieties of figured silk weaving, that it has superceded them all throughout France and England

Yet, in our own country, so highly favored in all respects by nature, the successful introduction of the silk culture is mainly due to individual exertion, but the day is not far distant when the cultivation of the mulberry and the growth and manufacture of silk in the United States will become a very important source of wealth to the nation The work has wonderfully begun, and is now taking deep and permanent root in our soil

According to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury the value of silk imported into the United States during the year ending the 30th of September, 185[illegible] amounted to $18,5[illegible],950, this being the original or first cost in the foreign countries (this must be double that amount now)—During that year only $156,5[illegible] worth of this great amount was exported most of it was imported from Italy, Switzerland and France

The millions that we are now expending for importing silk ought to be preserved in the country It would be a good policy to take steps in view of retaining such a vast amount, by every means that the Government has in its power Such amounts would soon pay our national debt It should certainly be a good policy to take off duties from that needed by the poor classes, and have very high duties on the imported article manufactured I am in hope that our Congressmen will understand their duty which is to have in view the prosperity of the country, by placing a very high tariff on the manufactured silk of importation This will injure nobody, but will enrich the country, as the effect will be to start the culture and manufacture of silk everywhere in the United States where the climate is favorable In California alone we can raise silk not only to supply the whole wants of the nation, but for the rest of the world"

A Rat Story —The New Orleans Picayune says

We remember being told, last fall, while in Kentucky, a remarkable rat story in connection with a prediction, by one of the oldest inhabitants that this would prove one of the severest and most inclement winters that we have had for many years The story was that in October last it was discovered that an immense army of rats consisting of over forty thousand, had crossed the Ohio river from the States of Ohio and Indiana to Kentucky, and were making forced marches in a southerly direction An old hunter of Kentucky stated that he had not known of such an occurrence since 1835 which proved one of the hardest winters throughout the country that had been known for years previous and he predicted that this winter would be one of great severity

It seems that this army of rats was well organized, officered and disciplined, having a commanding general with subordinate officers and that they threw out their pickets and sent off their scouts in quest of forage, determining as they traveled to quarter on the enemy, for they marched without baggage or a supply train It being reported at headquarters that the scouts had discovered a large well stocked barn ahead, orders were at once given to advance in line of battle upon the enemy, marching by two columns of attack They succeeded in effecting a surprise before daylight, having gained the enemy's outer works before they were discovered and by a strong force of sappers and miners absolutely succeeded in raising several planks of the floor of the barn The work of destruction that immediately followed was inconceivable The owner of the barn having rallied his neighbors in all directions they proceeded to advance on this immensely superior force with double barreled shotguns flanked by a heavy cavalry force of dogs, when a severe conflict ensued The rats were terribly routed and fled in great confusion leaving some fifteen hundred dead upon the field, after an engagement of hardly two hours

This is the largest rat story that we ever remember to have heard, and only give it to our readers because it has confirmed in part the prediction connected with it, and which in some measure supports the story

Whether this accounts also for the unprecedented number of rats which are reported to have visited Louisiana this winter, we will not say but certain it is that if these rats have come to Louisiana for its genial, sunny clime they have been mightily fooled in finding in its stead an arctic region and not an Ararat!

A Hairy Shopkeeper —Upon the banks of the Mississippi, in the State of Tennessee, there once dwelt an old chap by the name of Yader—Tom Yades Now Tom had been an honest, working man all his life, but he had never owned a saddle, and as Tom grew older his wealth and importance increased, and with it a desire to own a hog skin, so he one day picked a clean shirt and $100 into his wallet, stepped upon a steamboat, and away he went to New Orleans to buy a saddle Now this was the first trip Tom had ever made he had lived all his life where he was born and had never heard any other language than that of his mother tongue In the course of a few days he landed upon the levee at New Orleans

Poor Tom little knew what he had to encounter The Frenchman was there, the Italian was there, the Spaniard was there—some from all parts of the world were crowded upon the levee, and there was Tom, with his eyes stretched and ears open, mystified and bewildered at the strange jargon going on around him, he stood as long as mortal man well could, and at last struck out with his mind fully prepared to be surprised at nothing he might see, upon his errand of his saddle

After wandering about the city for some time he at length found a saddle shop

Tom, elated, walked in

The first and only living creature which met his vision was a baboon of the largest species sitting upon the counter, playing with the girths which were hanging from the saddle immediately over his head Tom very politely addressed him

"How do you do, sir?"

The baboon grinned and nodded

"I want to buy a saddle," says Tom

The same expression from the baboon. In a louder key from Tom—

"I want to buy a saddle."

A very polite grin from the baboon.

"I will give you $20 for that saddle," says Tom, at the same time handing over a $20 bill

The animal having seen his master put money into the drawer, took it, and hopping along the counter, made a deposit of Tom's $20 note He returned, however, immediately to his former position

"Well, hand us down the pig skin," said Tom

Very little notice from the baboon

"Hang it, why don't you give me my saddle? I have paid you for it, so hand it over, or I will take it myself"

An awful chattering from the baboon

Tom not intending to be fooled with any longer, reached out to take hold of his property, but no sooner had the poor fellow done so, than the nails and teeth of the baboon were driven into his arm Tom kicked and swore the baboon kicked and screamed, until at last the owner of the shop, a Frenchman, with a long moustache, came rushing into the room

"What you do sare? What you do want in here, you old rascal? By gar, you shall give me satisfaction"

Tom, not in the least daunted but very much exasperated, ripped out—

"You infernal old hairy mouth! I believe you wish to steal my $20 I came here, bought a saddle and paid the money down for it, and now when I want to be going with it, your son has refused to let me have it, and kicked up a fuss about it!"

Tom, however got his saddle, and returned the next morning to the boat going up the river, but has been heard to say that it was the last one he ever wished to purchase

"Love," says an unknown writer "is like music Some instruments can go up two octaves, some four, and some all the way from black thunder to sharp lightning As some of them are susceptible only of melody, so some hearts can sing but one song of love while others will ran in a full choral harmony"

It is stated that there are in the human voice about nine perfect tones but 17,592,186,044,415 different sounds Surely it is no wonder that there is a little discord in the world!

The man who imagined himself wise because he detected some typographical errors in a newspaper has gone eastward to get a perpendicular view of the rainbow

A married wretch says the greatest gift vouchsafed to any living man was that granted to Adam, as he was blessed with a wife without ever having a mother in law

"Pat, where's the whisky I gave you to clean the windows?" "Och, masther, I jest drank it and I thought, sure, that if I brathed on the glass it would be the same"

What is the earliest mention of a banking transaction? When Pharoah received a check (cheque) on the Bank of the Red Sea, which was crossed by Moses and Aaron

A Tennessee editor complains that he has recently seen banks shaving their paper We once saw a bank director actually shaving himself

Nobody in This —The man who made a shoe for the foot of a mountain is now engaged on a hat for the head of a discourse

Why is a money loaner like a man rowing a boat? Because he relies upon his owers

DR. HENLEY'S
Fountain of Life!
THE
GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

In every progressive science periods arrive when a new direction is imparted to its course These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding light which changes the whole aspect of the science The present is an epoch of this kind and this Great Remedy now offered to the public in connection with the theory on which it is based is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts, it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed it can be in every case safely and certainly arrested in its progress that by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, which they might now be enjoying the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires no article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial and not been found wanting

Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE

I would refer you to L L Peck of Portland Oregon and numbers of others as to what a miracle its effect it had in a short time in a case that had baffled the skill of physicians for years

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES APPROVED JULY 28 1866

WAR DEPARTMENT ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington September 17 1866

1 All applications shall be filed within the period of six months from the 1st day of [illegible] 1866 Before any payments are made in all cases of fully [illegible] [illegible] battalions or other separate organizations and no application [illegible] after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid

2 No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the first-sixth section of the Act and the fifth affidavit that he has not received nor is he entitled to receive from the United States under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28 1866 more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion over and above [illegible] claimed

3 All applications for the additional bounty authorized by the Act [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] shall be in the form heretofore prescribed and the evidence of identity shall be the same as now required and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department

4 As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment or other separate organization shall have been completed [illegible] the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment

5 A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office and also in the office of the Second Auditor of all claims presented under the law in which the claimant is will be classified by regiments etc If the claims be allowed the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated

6 In the applications for bounty as required by the third of these rules the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated

7 Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes as State Militia, Home Guards, etc., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.

8 Soldiers enlisted for three years or during the war who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out their period of their enlistment and are entitled to bounty under this Act

9 The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under the Act must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family in which case it shall be paid to the mother Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit.

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes

1 Those who after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration

2 Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment

3 Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service but not occasioned by wounds received in the line of duty, who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge

4 Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment

5 The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty

6 The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States

7 The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers when such soldiers have bartered sold assigned loaned transferred exchanged or given away their final discharge papers or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress

8 The Act of the 28th of July 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those as were vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act

GOOD GRUB AND PLENTY OF IT!
AT THE
Bennett House,
SALEM, OREGON
L. JAY S. TURNEY,

Having leased the above named hotel, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap trap pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords

His Bar room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers periodicals and other suitable reading matter and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort

In short he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the Bennett House And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere and promises if they are not well treated and properly cared for and at reasonable figures it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant
